

I find it disturbing that the media in our country has been swiftly losing its independant voices as corporations continue to buy stations. There should be no reason that one corporation holds a majority of media outlets in any market.